We've been doing all this around St Louis since (YearEstablished).

After all, (CompanyName) is not your average comic, song, dance, juggling, puppet, magic and balancing act show. No siree, We've performed for audiences as far away as Glasgow, Scotland and appeared on network television.

We've won quite a few local awards, too.

Is your history or background an important selling tool?

Background

Entertainment is in our blood. Literally

- Art Simon and Doug Zimmer grew up in show-business families.
- Pauline Aaron and Lou Schmidt started performing in public before they even know there was a difference between applause and applause.
- Sandra Dorobas entertainment career began in junior high school

Between us, we have four degrees in music, two graduate diplomas in drama and a certificate of proficiency in scuba diving (don't ask).

We're all full-time professional entertainers with one mission in mind: to show your party-goers or company's guests the time of their lives.

Definer Edit Session

graph LR; Start1(( )) -- "Get Edit HTML" --> D1{Does the DXC have an Edit interface?}; D1 -- "Yes" --> E1[Invoke Edit Interface]; D1 -- "No" --> D2{Does the DXC have a Preview Interface?}; Start2(( )) -- "Get Preview HTML" --> D2; D2 -- "Yes" --> E2[Invoke Preview Interface]; D2 -- "No" --> E3[Invoke Runtime Interface]; Start3(( )) -- "Get Runtime HTML" --> E3;

The flowchart illustrates the logic for invoking DXC interfaces. It starts with three parallel entry points (circles) on the left. The top entry point leads to a decision diamond: "Does the DXC have an Edit interface?". If "Yes", it leads to a process rectangle: "Invoke Edit Interface". If "No", it leads to a second decision diamond: "Does the DXC have a Preview Interface?". The middle entry point leads to this second diamond. If "Yes", it leads to a process rectangle: "Invoke Preview Interface". If "No", it leads to a final process rectangle: "Invoke Runtime Interface". The bottom entry point also leads directly to this final process rectangle.
